BENIGEMBLA COCOLL-CASTELL DE CASTELLS

BENIGEMBLA - COCOLL - CASTELL DE CASTELLS

This route departs from Benigembla and leads to Castell de Castells. On reaching the destination, hikers can visit the Macro Schematic Art Museum that explains the cave paintings from Pla de Petracos, listed by UNESCO as a World Heritage site.

In addition, plan ahead to return by car, given that the length of the route between Benigembla and Castell de Castells makes a round trip quite a feat. Take advantage of the car ride back to call in at Pla de Petracos, which is easily accessible from the route between both municipalities. The route also works switching the starting point and destination.

WALKING ROUTES

The route departs from Benigembla along Avenida Bon Aire and continues on to road CV720 towards Castell de Castells. Approximately 250 metres in, head along the footpath on the left, the Corral Nou. After passing a farmyard to the left and a dilapidated stone house, the route reaches a wide, cobbled path that crosses a prickly pear field. Although this section of the path is wide and visible, it tapers down along the way and becomes harder to make out.

All around, the abandoned vineyards have given way to the original vegetation, which has grown back forming a thick scrubland. The scenery is abundant in heather, rosemary, aulaga and yellow fleabane, which frequently appears in abandoned crops that paint the scrubland yellow in autumn.

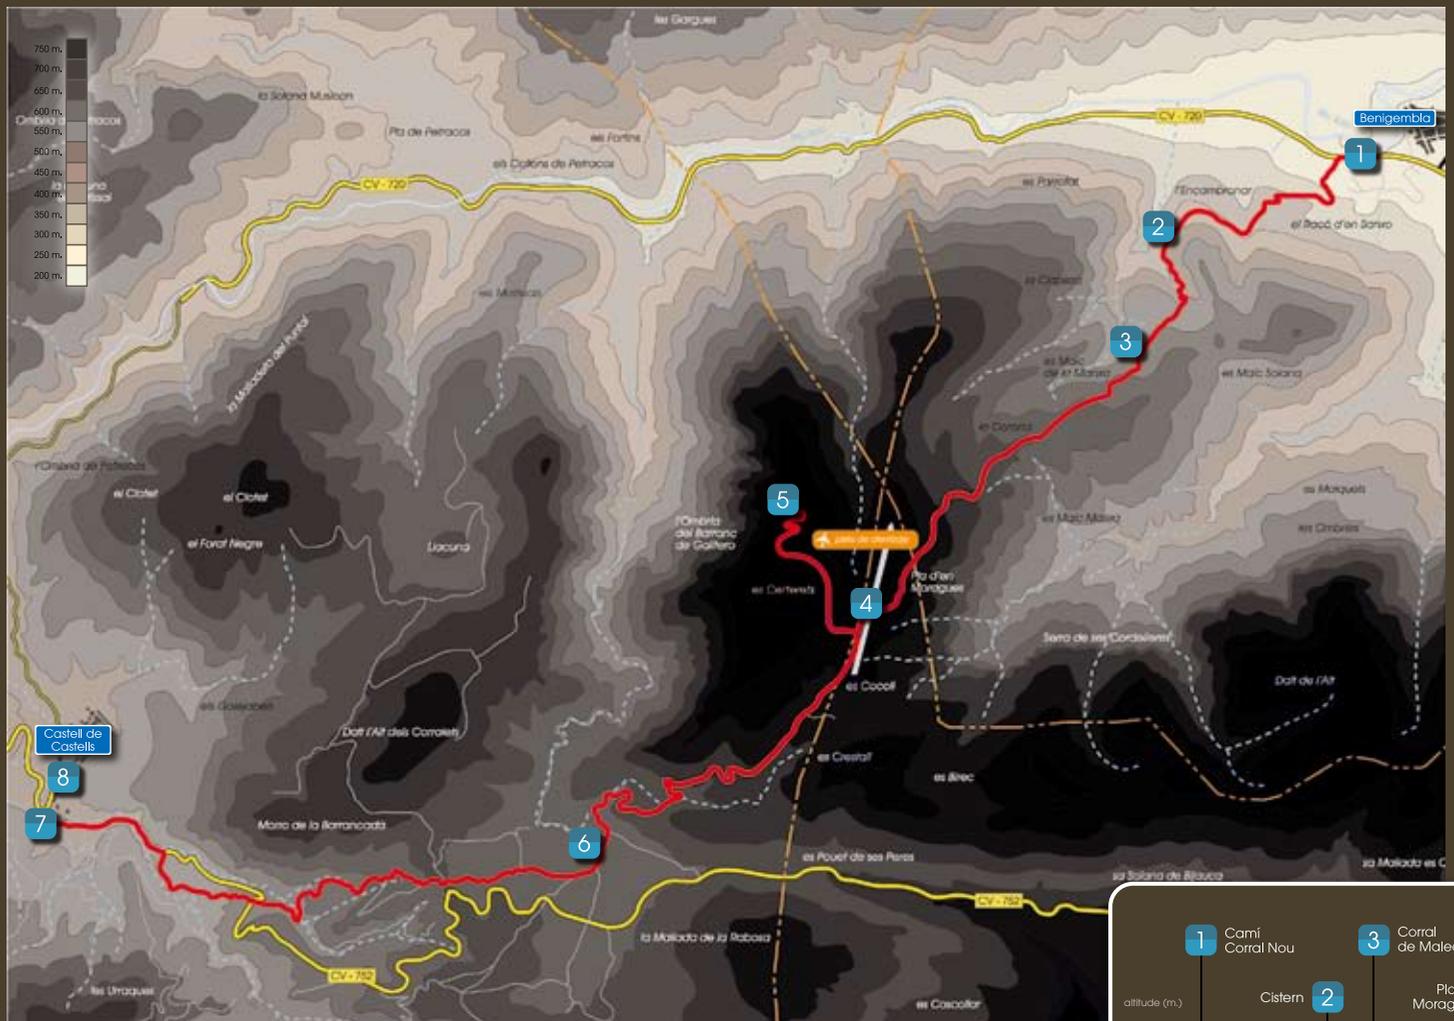

From here, the route climbs easily upwards, straddling a watercourse before tapering as it heads up along the hillside. The route then enters the Barranc dels Bous, where the steep slopes required the construction of very narrow terraces. The route continues over a cistern, the Aljup del Frare, which is now barely perceptible since all that remains is a small hole.

After crossing a small ravine with wider terraces, the route reaches an abandoned olive grove that has managed to survive for years and a rock wall boasting a series of unusual folds.

We continue along the footpath, where remains of ancient cobbling are still visible. Shortly, we come to Corral de Malea, a farmyard that is no longer in use. Upon exiting the ravine, the route reaches La Corona, an open area where animals often graze. It then continues upwards along the left and turns to the right further ahead to Plà de Moragues, and a landing strip used by forest services.

Behind the houses in the airfield, the footpath leads to Cocoll summit, and to a forest lookout that commands stunning views.

Retracing the route back to Plà de Moragues and continuing along the forest trail, you come to Plà d'Aialt, a historical Moorish hamlet thriving with olive trees, almond trees, cherry trees and perellons, an autochthonous apple variety.

Leaving the houses behind, you reach the road between Castell de Castells and Tàrbena. Continue along the right between footpaths and trails to Font de la Bota, one of the most emblematic fountains in La Vall de Pop.
